

REES NAMES DIRECTOR OF SUSTAINABILITY

Rees Associates, Inc., an architecture, planning and interior design firm whose portfolio spans the globe, is proud to announce its new Director of Sustainability, Dwayne Robinett, AIA, LEED AP. As the Director of Sustainability, Dwayne's main focus includes overseeing firmwide LEED accreditation process and incorporating sustainability into every project designed.

"I've had a chance to work with many remarkable team members over the past three years, and any true success is built with a team effort and hard work. As public awareness of sustainable architecture has grown in recent years, the REES team has continued to reaffirm our long-standing tradition of ecological awareness. In my new position, I plan on honoring the REES tradition of green architecture and superior teamwork," said Robinett.
